

Infinitive

write

/raɪt/

Past Simple form

Wrote

/raʊt/

He wrote a message
yesterday.

Past Participle form

written

/'rɪtɪn/

He has just written a message.

Infinitive

drive

/draɪv/

Past Simple form

dROVE

/drouv/

My mom drove
me to school
yesterday.

Past Participle form

dRIVEN

/'driven/

My mom has driven me to school this morning.

Infinitive

bite

/bait/

Past Simple form

bit

/bit/

A bee bit me
last week.

Past Participle form

bitten

/'bitn/

A bee has never bitten me before.

Infinitive

hide

/haɪd/

Past Simple form

hid

/hɪd/

My little brother
hid very well.

Past Participle form

hidden

/'hɪdn/

My little brother
has hidden so well that I still can't find him.

Infinitive

break

/breik/

Past Simple form

broke

/brouk/

He broke his glasses
yesterday.

Past Participle form

broken

/'broukən/

He has just broken his glasses.

Infinitive

choose

/tʃu:z/

Past Simple form

chose

/tʃoʊz/

My friend chose a beautiful movie
at the cinema
last night.

Past Participle form

chosen

/'tʃoʊzən/

My friend has chosen
a beautiful movie!

Infinitive

Speak

/spi:k/

Past Simple form

spoke

/spouk/

I spoke English
the whole day
yesterday.

Past Participle form

spoken

/'spoukən/

I have never spoken English with a native
speaker!

Infinitive

wake

/weɪk/

Past Simple form

woke

/wouk/

My son woke up at 9 o' clock
yesterday.

Past Participle form

woken

/'woukən/

My son has never woken up so late!

Infinitive

eat

/i:t/

Past Simple form

ate

/eit, et/

He ate
the whole ice cream
yesterday.

Past Participle form

eaten

/'i:tn/

He hasn't eaten
everything yet.

Infinitive

fall

/fɔ:l/

Past Simple form

fell

/fel/

Her phone fell on the ground
a minute ago.

Past Participle form

fallen

/'fɔ:lən/

Her phone has just fallen
on the ground!