"At long last! I can't believe my eyes ~ and in more than one way! I've stopped hoping a long time ago that I would once hold in my hand an artistic artefact which works for me on all major fronts. One with a powerful structure and crazy content which is both art and pop without being either art or pop, or anything in between, refusing to be classified, not taking itself seriously, and not teaching me anything or having a message, prodding chakras I didn't even know existed (and no chakras exist, of course)... coming from nowhere and going nowhere!

Key word: silliness, a high dose, worthy of Greta Fahrenheit's admiration.

I bow to Mileta's drawing virtuosity and feed on his silliness!

Empty your mind and do yourself a favour: follow these recipes and ask for more.
You need this book."
